Embrace Learning

Embrace-learning was established in 2004 to address the growing demand in the health and social care sector for engaging flexible and above all, effective learning materials. Working with the Department of Health on some projects, the team at Embrace have produced a range of off-the-shelf and bespoke courseware. The team of educationalists, designers and software developers are passionate about what they do. Their strength lies in the understanding of what works online and how it compliments conventional instructor-led training.

Embrace have established partnerships with training providers wishing to use a blended learning approach which adds another dimension to their offerings. In just four years the company has worked with private companies, local authorities, PCTs and NHS Trusts all over the UK and has grown in to one of the key specialist providers of e-learning in this sector.
